Love, loneliness and fabulous cinema

FILM

There is a splendid chance of winning, or more to the point, “The chance never dies.” Thank you for a very enjoyable evening. I note that you wrote about the fortress that is the 9th century abbey at Whitley. There are some great buildings there, but the abbey is the most important. The church was burnt down in Roman times, but the present building was begun in 1197 and completed in 1237. It is a very fine example of Gothic architecture. The nave is 100 feet wide and 200 feet long, and the tower is 300 feet high. The abbey is a very popular tourist attraction, and it is open to the public every day except on Sundays. You should definitely visit it if you get the chance.
